CONDEMNED BY COPY BOOK.
VLADIVOSTOK, August 31.—The evidence on which the British steamer Knight Commander, sunk by the Vladivostok squadron, was condemned by the prize court, was contained in a letter copying book taken from a press in the captain's cabin by Midshipman Baron Ert, after the officers and crew had left the vessel. This book was not delivered when the captain surrendered the other documents, and it proved conclusively to the Russians that the cargo of railway material carried by the Knight Commander was destined for Chemulpo, and not for private firms in Japan.
Before the prize court the captain was not compelled to take an oath, the president of the court saying that he would accept his word of honor as a gentleman. The captain testified that neither he nor the owners of the Knight Commander knew that the cargo was contraband and that they believed it was not destined to be used as war material. He was then confronted with his own letter book and was dazed for a moment. He then exclaimed, "Heavens! I thought that book was at the bottom of the sea."
The Knight Commander was promptly condemned.

DAUGHTERS LOST.

An Italian laborer named Baccolina has asked the New York police to help him find his twin daughters, Rosa and Virginia, who, according to Baccolina, have come to look down upon his rough hands and unpolished ways. He says that they had requested him not to recognize them in the street some time before they left him home, and he claims that he did as they wished. Yet they went.

TRANSPORTATION

At the great St. Louis World's Fair there are exhibited many methods of transportation from the big mogul engine to the slow moving giant turtle, one of the sensations on the Pike in Carl Hagenbeck's Animal Show.

This mammoth is said to be several centuries old and several persons can ride on his back. He is a great diversion for children. The old fellow is naturally very slow, but there is little danger of falling off and no chance for a runaway. This great tortoise is one of the many interesting features that will be pictured in the
